“ I was sad to hear Dale has passed. I lost touch with him years ago when I moved to North Carolina. I had hoped to catch up with him when I moved back to Oklahoma. We hung out together in high school with the band. Some people may not know he played the trumpet. We shared a house in Tonkawa for awhile while I was in college. I remember when he told me about living in a tent by Lake Fort Worth. He certainly led an interesting life! I will miss his sardonic humor.

Dale was my helper in a steel shop in Enid Oklahoma, he was quiet, easily angered, rarely happy, but a good guy, really knew how to take care of his mother. He smoked so much, tried quitting, it, I'm sure, is what caused his demise, he was bringing a breathing machine to work, he went out his back door that fateful morning to take himself to the hospital, fell, and died on way in ambulance; I told him he needed to quit smoking, he would tell me to ...
