“ I remember we meet at work. I randomly started to talk to you as a friend and randomly our friendship grew so much. You became one of best friend and you knew how I love you and meant to me. I was always excited to go to work to see. I would call you and see if you were scheduled and when you weren't you knew how upset I was. Everyday at work we would always give each other the biggest hug I wish I can just hug you one more time. We would always eat lunch together which Chick-fil-A will always be our favorite spot to eat 🍷
thank you for the friendship you gave me and I'm so so blessed to be part of your life. I hope you know that I'll always carry you in my heart 🍷

“ My first memory is when we first met and I started to get to know you by the days and weeks go by. My sweet 16 day I was really surprised you had came to, and surprised you wanted to take a picture with me. I loved that you showed up and supported me, ever since then I knew from the bottom from my heart I wanted to get closer with you. We talked so much at school, made good memories at school, we ended up working together at McDonald’s, there was partys we had went to and had so much fun together. My second memory is definitely prom night, I was getting food and water with my prom date, and that’s when I saw you doing the same. I went up to you so excited and told you that you looked really good and you had said “thank you, you do too this is my first time seeing you in yellow”, that’s when we had taken a picture together and we had fun the rest of the night. My 3rd memory is your graduation day, the moment you walked on that stage I was cheering you on and shouting your name and saying “yeah Genaro, I love you” but i know you couldn’t hear me. I was so proud of you that you had made it out of high school, and I knew you were going to do great things in your future. I was so excited when I had seen you after and told you once again that you had looked good. I miss you so much and i cant believe that this is even real. You were more then just a person, you were a friend, a son, a brother, a smart, kind, helpful, and someone to lean on, and come to when needed. Now may you rest peacefully. you are in a better place now, and fly higher. 🕊️ I love you.
