“ Jeff and I were together practically everyday when we were younger .. we were Cowboys and Indians cops and robbers and future football stars...in our teens we dreamed of being rock stars then families came along we both realized it was our destiny to be the best husband and fathers we could be... I love this man like a brother and will deeply miss him ...someday he and I will be together again along with our mothers and other family members in heaven

“ I don,t know if he had a serious bone in his body.If you were with Jeff you were going to laugh and in my case sometime scold,he was so much fun to be around.He had an enormous heart and love for all his family. He is with his Saviour now, and making his mom,grandma,and all those who went before him laugh now..trust me he took the oneriness with him...We will miss him but will see him again in Heaven.

“ It's been a while since I've seen Jeff and his family, but a few memories that I will never forget was when I was last with them with my mom and my dad and the rest of my family was him harassing me for not coming to visit more often because my kids were practically grown.

Another thing was I guess he didn't know that smoked, and so when he saw me smoking he ripped the cigarette out of my mouth and said "you need to quit that shit"

Probably my favorite memory was after hanging with him and his kids waiting for Bobby jo to get home I got stung by a red wasp in his bathroom. After I thought I killed the wasp I walked out as he was walking in the house and I wasn't feeling too good. apparently I was allergic to red wasps and I had no idea. Jeff noticed right away that I didn't look so good..... Needless to say cousin Jeff was my hero. He scowered the house for benedryl and took care of me until Bobby Jo got home. Even after all the teasing and the reprimanding of being a smoker he came to my rescue in my time of need. But even after all that he still gave my shit about being allergic to bees. That was my cousin and I'm going to miss him to much.

“ What I will always remember about my cousin is his ability to make me laugh and his love of children! He offered to take everyone of my kiddos off my hands at one time or another! I know that jeff is in heaven now with my aunt Judy and grandma. I love you jeff! The world feels lonely without you!
