My mom passed away before the morning light.

Her body was wore out it gave up the fight.

She was married seventy years a loving and good wife.

She raised three boys we loved her and enjoyed life.

She was a registered nurse and to so many she gave.

That was her goal to help others and a life to save.

She taught us to live like Jesus to never take but to give.

She gave of herself so many could have a better life to live.

My Dad passed away during the dark of night.
His body and mind were both tired.
He woke up with a new body and clear mind in heaven's light.
He led a good honest life.
He worked hard.
And had a very good wife.
He was a good Dad and loved my brothers and me.
He taught us to work hard be honest and kind to others.
He taught by example and that is the best Dad there can be.
He is in heaven now.
With so many friends and family to see.
I bet he is as busy as a bee.
