“ Michael was an amazing man full of life. I had the honor of meeting him 2 years ago. He came to my store before it was open and I invited him in and we talked for hours. Michael continues to come to my store for the next 2 years. Michael quickly became family and we enjoyed hearing his many stories and his jokes! He always had a joke.
Michael would send me a text if he wasn't able to make it by the store, he would just see how things were going and ask if I needed anything. He was always willing to help me, no questions asked.
Michael was a dear friend of mine and he will be greatly missed.

“ I will never forget the morning of April 13, 1949. Glenn, my old brother rushed into my sixth-grade classroom at Lincoln grade school. He leaned over and said, “Mother is in the hospital. The baby is coming. I’m going there.” I started to get up when he told me to stay in school and walk Pat, our “little” sister-in the first grade-home. I was excited. The baby was coming and today was Pat’s seventh birthday. Three days later mother came home with our baby brother. That day Glenn, Pat and I sat on the sofa and welcomed Mike into our home and our hearts. At that moment, the four of us not only became siblings, but friends for life. As Mike-with a huge smile-called me, I’ll always be his “older” and loving sister, Gerri.

*Mike has been a friend almost forever. We met in 7th grade - he was such a shy quiet boy - even refusing to get up in Speech Class. Then one day, he was acting at Shepherd of the Hills in front of hundreds of people! If Mike really put his mind to something, he could do it! * Traveling with him was truly an adventure but one had to be careful. If you even jokingly said, "Hey, what's that thing over there?" in a split second, he'd be headed that way no matter the mode of transportation. * His jokes and stories kept everyone he knew entertained. It didn't matter to Mike if it was an audience of 1 or 100. As his health worsened, he still kept friends entertained with calls and on Facebook. We'll miss your special brand of humor, Mike, just as we'll all miss YOU!!*
