“Opal Kimmell was one of my nicest friends throughout many years of knowing her. Both she and Dutch were such good friends to my parents. My mother used to say, “You need to try this recipe, it was Opal’s, and her cooking is always the best!” And, I still make many of those recipes. Opal loved her family and would always update me with pride on their lives. I think her sense of humor and her winning attitude allowed she and Dutch to live out their lives in love. I am blessed to have known them both—rest in peace my friends.

“ I met Opal and Dutch when they walked into my tea room a few years ago. Our friendship began with coffee and a pastry. She brought me farm fresh eggs for my tea room treats. She was a remarkable cook and homemaker. They both told stories of hope and humor that reflected their deep love for each other.
