“ Dear Mary, Ray Jr., Mark and your families,
I remember so well the way Ray treated our son Matt in all of the hours he spent in their home hanging around with Mark when they were boys-----just like he treated Mark!!! He expected them to help out, to respect property and to be mannerly even as he encouraged them to be typical boys. We appreciated him and knew if anybody could keep them out of trouble it was Ray!! To the extended Feightner family,

Ray was an awesome guy. I remember as a kid seeing him, usually in the garage working on a project, and always ready to talk with anyone who came by. He had a very dry incredibly wry sense of humor, and you could count on him cracking you up with his one-of-a-kind observations on life. He was a fatherly figure to me as a young boy, and he raised two wonderful sons along with many of us kids in the neighborhood. He will be missed by all who were lucky enough to be around him.

All my best,

Matt Barnes

We knew Ray Dean from childhood. He was our neighbor for years before all our paths diverged into adulthood. He had the knack for seeing the ridiculous and amusing to make us, as children, laugh. His role modeling for his sons, and participation in their lives as he was able, was admirable. His work ethic was remarkable.

It was not possible for us to live near the Feightner family all these years, but they are dear to us.

*Ray could have said, as Tennyson did, in the epic Ulysses:
"All times I have enjoyed greatly, have suffered greatly, both with those who loved me, and alone; on shore, and through scudding drifts, the rain, the dim sea..... I am a part of all that I have met....."*

Rest in peace.
