“ I got to know Steven from the purchase of his folks lake place at Canton Lake. He would drive by and one day I walked down to the road and talked with him, he told me about his childhood memories here. I invited him up to look around. After that day he stopped by many times just to say hello. I didn't know he had passed until today 08/30/2025. I was talking to my wife and said I haven't seen Steven in awhile and found his obituary on line. R.I.P. my friend.

“ Steve was such a wonderful friend to our whole family. He instantly was one of us. It only took a minute to understand why Grandma Nancy loved him so. We all did! He will be missed. Dawn Murphy-Williams (Donnelley/Estabrooks Family)

“ As soon as you meet Steve, you love Steve. You are friends.

My mom invited friends to her home during the holidays. Steve would appear at the door with a smile and his guitar. It only took minutes for Steve to blend into the chaos of our family gatherings. He was fun and kind. I miss you, Steve.

“ *In memory of Stephen, a light now dimmed,
From halls of laughter, where our youth was brimmed.
With every shared moment, the memories remain,
His smile and kindness, a comforting refrain.*

*The years have flown swiftly, like leaves in the breeze,
Yet friendship's bond lingers, bringing hearts to ease.
In the tapestry woven, his thread still entwined,
A spirit so vibrant, forever enshrined.*

*Though time may have taken, and paths drift apart,
In the heart's quiet corners, he'll never depart.
We gather in sorrow, yet cherish the past,
For love knows no boundaries and memories last.*

*So here's to dear Stephen, whose laughter we miss,
A toast to his journey, a life filled with bliss.
In the echoes of memories, his essence will stay,
Forever a classmate, guiding our way.*

“ Stephen taught me that you don't have to know someone very long to love them, he was one of the few people that could always put a smile on my face, this guy had a heart of gold, for sure! Oh, Stevo, this hit hard and I'm gonna miss you so big, my friend. Fly high with all the other beautiful angels!

“ Steve was a kind and gentle man. Our friendship began many years ago when a mutual friend introduced us with music as a common connection. After that, for several years, Steve was often at our house for meals, landscape projects, birthday parties and just to hang out. His laugh was infectious and he was especially loved by my son, George. When George learned to read his very first book, he ask Steve to come over so he could read it to him. Steve signed the book and George still has it. We will miss you Steve! May your spirit continue to find and cultivate the beauty around you!
