“ I'll always remember my dad. Driving his old 69 camero and taking me for ice cream. Then he met Debra when I was 13. It was the worst for his children as she made sure no one would have any time with him. She even called the police on us when we came to see him when he was dying. My brothers weren't allowed to carry his casket or be there when he died. She still has all of our childhood photos and refuses to give us any of our old memories. We couldn't visit him but he did go to my mom's funeral without her. He placed a rose on her grave and for that I am thankful. These are the memories of his blood daughter who Debra made sure to keep away from her father. Believe me. I talked to him on the phone when she wasn't around and saw him behind her back. The worst step mother ever. RIP dad. At least you have peace now.

“ I will always remember Victor as gentle, kind, caring & soft spoken. He taught me how to build my first race-car engine. He was very passionate about his Big block chevy's Elcamino's and Chevelles. He was a true car guy that loved working on his cars and was always helping others on their car. Every time he saw me He would always tell me that I need to build another race car because I was a heck of a race car driver with natural talents. I remember Victor, outside, with flashlight and wrenches, in the cold, helping one of the boys working on their car. He always gave words of encouragement to everyone he knew. I met Victor, through a friend, talking about engines, said Vic was the Dictionary of knowledge when it came to Chevy motors, which I learned very quickly he was absolutely correct. I remember Calling Vic and Debra and asking, hey there's an auction this Saturday and they got lot's of good stuff, Vic would then ask "you going"? Then came auction day and Vic and Debra had already beat me there and was telling me what they wanted so I wouldn't bet against them. I don't believe Victor ever had an enemy. I am very Blessed to have known him and call him Friend. Victor told me that he was SO proud of all their children. I know Vic loved and adored the kids and grandchildren, and there was no doubt that Mackally was his favorite., but that was just fine, because every grandkid knew where to get in line to see their PaPa. I'm sure he's up there in heaven building big-block Chevy motors, and riding around in his elcamino.

God Bless You Debra, you had a keeper, and you will all miss him, God's Sped Chevy Man. To the children and grandchildren I know how much you will miss Victor. He was a GREAT Man who was a hard working, He taught the kids to have high ethical, and high morality. high standards to live by. To Debra and The Family Prayers and God Bless. Please Let us know if there's anything we can help on anything. God Bless the Family. Robert & Donna Marker

Thank you for your memories and prayers. We will all miss him greatly. I do believe Makaila and Gabrielle will argue who his favorite really is. But I do believe it had to be me cause without me he wouldn't of had them to fight over who's the favorite. Anyways I do know how much he enjoyed having you as a friend. And I just want to say thank you and Donna for being here for our family. We appreciate both of you.
